TOOK A HARD TUMBLE

Fritz Brooks Fell Off a Street Car.

PEOPLE THOUGHT HE WAS DEAD

But He Soon Made Life Apparent by Crying Heartily—Knocked Senseless by the Car—He Recovered Consciousness and Was Taken Home—He Was Stealing a Ride.

A little knot of frightened people stood on Sixth street last night, and wondered, while Dr. J. J. Ikert made a hurried examination, if the street railway company had cost the city another life.

The accident was the result of the practice of small boys jumping on street cars, and after riding a short distance dropping to the ground while they jeered the ineffectual efforts of motormen to keep them away. Fritz Brooks, the little son of William Brooks, an employee of the flint mill, was with a party of youngsters at the corner of Sixth and Franklin streets. A few minutes before 6 o'clock Brooks caught a car, and sitting on the platform placed his feet on the step. In the effort to look around the corner of the car when it was moving at ordinary speed he fell to the pavement, and rolling over with a convulsive shudder lay as though dead. Half a dozen people who saw the accident ran to his assistance, and the boy was carried tenderly to the store of A. J. Moon where he was made as comfortable as possible on a bed made of old sacks. The physician was summoned, and soon had him possessed of his senses enough to have him screaming so that he could not tell his name. Then for a time he only sobbed, and after telling where his family lived was carried home to Church alley. He had a lump on his head as large as a goose egg, but no more serious result than a slight concussion of the brain is expected. The practice of jumping cars has grown wonderfully in the past few weeks, and motormen are at a loss to know how to deal with the evil. They can not leave their posts to drive the boys away, and the force of officers will not permit the presence of a policeman every time a youngster wants a free ride. Perhaps the death of a youngster will settle the question, or it may be the boys will refrain when one of their number loses an arm or a leg.

A GOOD ANSWER.

Democrats Continue to Curse the Potters.

A Youngstown paper calls the potters of this place "mud and sand making, robbers of the public," and the Salem News twists the donkey's tail in this way:

"The city of East Liverpool owes all that it is to the Republican principle of protection, carried out in laws enacted by that party. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that the potters of that thriving city should hate "an old-fashioned American tariff" for under that kind of a tariff no pottery ware was manufactured in this country. We all ate our breakfast, dinner and supper from dishes upon which appeared the English crown or the lion and the unicorn of the royal coat of arms. The late General William H. Gibson, the gifted orator, declared that for many years he refused to say grace at the table because his wife persisted in turning the plates upside down, and he could not offer thanks over a plate while the British crown stared him in the face. The protective tariff gave the pottery industry a start in this country, and it grew to great proportions, so that General Gibson could eat from a homemade plate, and he said grace at the table ever afterward. The protective tariff is the American tariff."

WITH THE WHEELMEN.

The C. C. C. C. Have at Last Found Club Quarters.

After a vast amount of vexatious delay, club headquarters have been found for the C. C. C. C., and the room in the Burton building on Fifth street is being cleaned up today preparatory to the formal opening tomorrow evening, when every member is expected to be there. The place will be carpeted and filled with comfortable chairs, so the members can always have a comfortable resting place.

The interest in road races for boys continues to grow, and another will take place on the evening of Aug. 7. The start will be made at Dry Run, and the tape will be placed at the corner of Robinson and Walnut streets. The first prize will be a beautiful gold medal, and the five youths who finish after the winner will each be awarded something nice. The race will be a handicap, and all contestants must be under 16 years of age. W. J. Harvey gives the prizes, and present indications point to 50 entries.

The next race of the Ceramic City Cycle club promises to be a battle royal from start to finish. Several members who could not be induced to start last time have already expressed their determination to try the road, and a crowd of starters will be at the scratch.

Rowe and Davidson will race tonight from East End to Orr's. The roads are good, and Saturday's time, it is thought, will be decreased.

Wheelmen who know the Lisbon champion will be glad to know that Jack Steele won the five-mile handicap at the national circuit meet in Mansfield yesterday.

CARRAHER BOUND OVER.

Mayor Riley Thinks He Has a Clear Case.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

STEUBENVILLE, July 30.—Chas. Carraher, of Liverpool, who was brought here last week charged with stealing some silverware from the residence of Doctor McCoy, was arraigned before Mayor Riley this morning. There were half a dozen witnesses, among them being Chief Gill, of East Liverpool, and the mayor was not long in deciding to hold the prisoner until the grand jury can pass on his case. He did not furnish bail, and was returned to jail. The opinion openly expressed is that the authorities have a clear case against Carragher. The testimony was mainly to prove that Carragher is the suspected man, and the identification is complete.

WILL RESURRECT IT.

The Sant Bill Will Be Heard From Later.

"When will the Sant bill be paid," queried a NEWS REVIEW reporter as he approached President Marshall of the city council.

He expected to see the doctor fall in a dead faint at the mention of the aged claim, but he didn't. Instead he said he guessed it wouldn't be a great while until they learned something new. Possibly it would be about August 20 when the city cash arrived from the county coffers. Then if they received the extra money which Sant pointed out to them as their own, council might take a different view of John's bill. Council made the claim for the amounts and expect to get it all.

Should this cash be realized it is very probable that Sant will get his money as it is believed a majority of the members are even now in favor of paying it.

A NUISANCE.

What a Citizen Styles Errors in Calling the Patrol.

"I can't understand why the department is called so often when only the patrol is needed," remarked a resident this morning when the company returned from the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles plant. "They only wanted the patrol over there, yet someone called out the entire department, and it is not the first time either. It takes a man away from his business, and scares the insurance people almost to death," and he walked away while one of the crowd remarked that he would die in a series of kicks. While it is true that false alarms give the department practice, it is also true that practice could be had without false alarms—which cause excitement.

A DEMOCRATIC CONFERENCE.

Editor Potts Was Here Last Night Talking Politics.

Editor Potts, of Lisbon, was in town last night, and the local Democratic organization shuddered with fear. He had the reddest kind of blood in his eye, and he was in town for a battle with any of the local leaders.
After calling a few of the faithful together he looked a little more cheerful and hopeful than when he arrived.
It is stated on authority that a meeting of the dissatisfied was held, and plans taken to whip out the Deldrick ring in the Wellsville convention.

TEN PLACES TO FILL.

Teachers Have Not Yet Been Assigned Positions.

There are ten vacancies yet to fill in the staff of teachers for the schools, and no assignments have yet been made. The teachers have not been assigned positions for the year, nor will this be done until after the examination, which takes place the last week in August. The experienced teachers from abroad who are being employed have not all been chosen.

JUSTICE COMES HIGH

The City Must Pay a Nice Bill in Canton.

ONE MAN AT THE WORKS

But Four Were Released Recently, and the Mandate of the Blind Goddess Having Been Obedied the Fiddler Must Have His Pay—Cases in Police Court.

Mayor Gilbert today received the bill for the last batch of prisoners entertained at the Canton workhouse, and his face was a study worthy the efforts of a master hand as he glanced over the various items. It called for $80 and showed that Neil Laird, John Hurley, John Burns and Joseph Davis had been released and sent on their way rejoicing, while Dan Corcoran still lingers in durance vile. As the mayor gazed upon the bill he wondered how much better it would be to keep these fellows at home and make them sweep the streets. Not after the fashion of the Wellsville system, which permits a man to escape when he becomes weary of the work, but on a Liverpool plan which would keep them closely guarded and make them work. He would have council annul that contract with Canton, and punish these chaps who break the law while beautifying the dirty streets.
The mayor did not say much about his plan, but it was evident that he thought punishment at Canton expensive justice.

Isaac Gourley was disorderly in an uptown alley just after today was born, and the whisky in him prompted pugilistic desires which could not be made realities. He struck two men, and they sensibly called the police instead of taking the law in their own hands. Chief Gill walked Gourley to city hall, where he gave security for $7.60, the amount of his assessment.

A man who said his name for the police court was James Carr, but that he had another cognomen on ordinary occasions, was fined $3.60 for being connected with the disorder at Bashor's meat market on West Market street Saturday night.

Thomas Powling was drunk at the station last night, where he had gone to meet his wife who was a passenger on the midnight train. Some one asked him to go up town, and he went, but became weary and lay down in a doorway to sleep. A pedestrian stumbled over his prostrate form, and Officers Jennings, Earle and the patrol were called. This morning as he paid the fine demanded by Mayor Gilbert he explained that he was never arrested before, and was heartily ashamed of his conduct. The mayor told him to go and sin no more, or the fine would be heavier the next time.

There were no prisoners in jail this morning, all the unfortunate ones having been able to pay what the city demanded for their wickedness.

Mrs. James Clunk called at city hall this morning, and charged Dick Burroughs her son-in-law with disorderly conduct. He had come to her house and caused a big row. He was notified by the police and promptly pleaded guilty. The fine was $7.60, and he gave an order on his wages.

Frank Feuerlisen was captured by Officer Whan today, and charged with being disorderly in an uptown alley last night, the same row which caused the arrest of Gourley. He explained to the mayor that he was not guilty, and thought of standing trial. He had not decided when he left city hall.

ANOTHER ADVOCATE.

Councilman Owen Believes in a Local Workhouse.

"I can't understand why we can't have a little workhouse of our own," said Councilman Owen today when discussing the cost of the Canton institution. "Have a stone pile where a man can work out a fine at a stipulated rate per day or feed him on bread and water if he refuses, and it will answer every purpose at a comparatively small cost. Many are opposed to the system, but that is because it has never been given a good trial where we can see it. There is one Ohio town making it go, and I can't understand why Liverpool can't do the same."

A NARROW ESCAPE.

John Brandt Was Struck by a Bung of Sagars.

The patrol was called to the new end of the Knowles plant this morning to take John Brandt, a kilnman, to his home in the East End. Brandt was in a stooping position in a kiln when a bung of ware fell, striking him on the leg and painfully crushing it. Had he been in an upright position he would have been killed. A physician was summoned, and it was found that Brandt was so badly hurt he could not walk home.

Doctor Bailey was called, and found that Brandt was hurt about the hips and legs, but his injuries were not serious. He has been working as a plumber for some time, and this was his first day in a kilnshed.

THE BILL WAS SMALL

But Martin Weighed of Waiting and Entered Suit.

In the court of Squire Rose this morning W. J. Martin entered suit against H. C. Waudby, of Broadway, for $2.41. The amount claimed is for work. The case is set for hearing on Thursday morning at 8 o'clock.

Business in the local squares' courts is exceedingly dull at present owing to the attorneys' vacation. Squire Rose and wife returned last night from their summer home, Silverthorne park, across the river.

Attorney A. R. Mackall returned today from a brief sojourn in the country.

WAITING FOR PROSPERITY.

The Central District Still Has an Eye on Salineville.

The telephone company have not abandoned the plan to extend the line to Salineville, and the system will yet have that town on the list. The company is conservative, and will spend no money in that direction without some prospect of return, and the coal town has not yet recovered sufficiently from the hard times to make it pay. The line from Pittsburg to Washington is not yet complete, but as soon as it is in working order the force will begin to rebuild the Wellsville-Lisbon line.

CAUSED A STIR.

Thought a Boat Was the Bridge Company's Dredge.

A government dredge boat built at Pittsburg and being taken down the river to St. Louis, where the machinery will be put in, was tied up at the foot of Market street last night, and the rumor spread that the bridge company were preparing to begin work today. The boat is something new in its line, and the dredges to be used by the bridge people are not of that kind.
However, the contractors will begin the placing of their machinery early next week.

AN OLD CASE.

A Dozen Defendants Lost it at Lisbon.

Special to NEWS REVIEW.

Lisbon, July 30.—The case of Isaac Falcon against the Salineville Coal & Coke company and the heirs of Thomas Thompson was decided in favor of the plaintiff at a brief session of court yesterday afternoon. The company was a concern in Salineville 25 years ago, and the defendants a dozen in number claimed some right in a few lots by reason of transactions 30 years old. Falcon gets the property, and the case drops out of sight forever.

HAPPILY GREETED.

A Large Crowd Shook Hands With Doctor Marshall.

The reception tendered Doctor Marshall at the First Presbyterian church last evening was a happy event and attended by several hundred people.
He was formally introduced to the audience, and made one of those pleasant little addresses for which he is noted, and the remainder of the evening was spent in conversation with the hundreds of old friends who wanted a word with him. Doctor and Mrs. Marshall will remain in the city until Saturday.

WILL RAISE THE FLAG.

Junior Mechanics Will Have a Big Day.

The Junior Mechanics are preparing for the greatest day in the history of the order in this section, the event being the raising of a flag over the new school house. The date has been set for September 6. Prominent members of the order from Pennsylvania will be present, and it is thought that a parade will be one of the prominent features of the occasion. Details of the day have not yet been arranged.

GOOD LIGHT.

The Clock in the School House Looked Well.

The electricians engaged in finishing the work at the new school building had the wires in the tower connected last night, and when darkness came the current was turned on.
There was enough light to make the dials show the time in all parts of the city, even high on the hills where the people have been wanting a sight of the clock. The light is strong enough for all purposes, and lends a cheerful aspect to the big building.

BIG MEN WILL BE HERE

The Campaign Will Bring
Some of Them.

GOVERNOR M'KINLEY A FARMER

At Least He Owns a Fine Farm in This County, and He May be at the Township Line Picnic Next Month—General Bushnell Has Been Invited.

Within the next few months this city will in all probability know the presence of the three greatest men in Ohio. At least they have been invited, and if they do not come now they will drop in during the campaign.

Although it is not generally known, Governor McKinley is a farmer, and a Columbiana county farmer, too. Some time ago he had a little extra money, and with it he purchased a fine block of land near Kensington. It is well situated, and the great statesman has not been giving so much of his time to public affairs as to prevent certain important improvements on the farm. Knowing this, and realizing the importance of having the governor associate himself with them, the Township Line club have invited him to be present at their picnic next month. They have addressed him as farmers to a farmer, and are fondly hoping the great man will be present to help them enjoy the day. They know how well the governor likes to come to this county, and feel confident that he will be here if his engagements and public business will permit.

Among the other leading lights of Ohio to visit East Liverpool will be Hon. J. B. Foraker. The next senator always did have a soft spot in his heart for this city, and the flattering reception he received here last fall did not cool his friendship. In a private letter written to a well-known resident he is said to have made the assertion that he would be here before election day. He did not say that he was coming to make a speech, nor did he intimate his business was of a private nature. He simply said he was coming. When he does come Liverpool will pay him the tribute it always pays to merit.

General Bushnell is quoted by his friends as saying that he too will visit the city soon. He is so well known by leading politicians that there is no necessity of explaining anything about Liverpool to him. In a private letter, written a few weeks after he was nominated, he promised to come, and it is learned that he has been booked for a speech here by Chairman Kurtz during the campaign. It matters not when he comes, the city will be out in force to give the next governor of Ohio a rousing welcome.

CAUGHT IN A PEDAL.

A Peculiar Accident to a Small Boy.

Albert Evans was riding a velocipede on West Market street last night when his foot caught in the pedal and he could not draw it out. A toe was fastened in such a way that the leg began to swell, and there being no other way to release it a file was secured, and the casting filed off. The boy suffered not a little from the accident, and limped away with a forlorn expression when he was eventually released from the predicament.

THE TROLLEY FELL OFF.

And With It Came a Board From a Car
Last Night.

As a street car was passing through West End last night the trolley fell off the wire, and in some way a board was detached from the roof of the car. The motorman had the brakes on in an instant, and the car stopped, but the passengers were frightened. Some stood up, and others looked as though they wanted to jump out of the window. The accident was trifling, and caused only a little damage.

BETTING ON THE BRIDGE.

One Man Thinks Enough of It to Hunt For Wagers.

If there are any people in town who do not believe the bridge will be built, and have about them a little money to back their opinion, they can be accommodated by a well known business man and official who has already laid a little money on his belief. He thinks the bridge will be built, and has bet money on it. Nor is he satisfied, for today at noon he was hunting for some one who wanted to oppose his views.

—Mrs. Mary Thornberg, of Kendall, Pa., who has been visiting here, left for a trip down the river this morning.

—Mrs. Isaac Knowles and daughter, Mrs. Downing, went to the latter's home in London this morning.

PRETENDS TO CONFESS

Holmes' Story Concerning the Insurance Swindle.

HE SAYS PIETZEL SUICIDED.

When He Disfigured the Face to Indicate Violent Death by a Pipe Explosion So He Could Collect the Life Insurance. Chicago Story Denied.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—An entirely new statement has just been made by H. H. Holmes, the supposed murderer of the Pietzel children. In it the man of many crimes gives in detail his version of how Pietzel came by his death last September, and also states his (Holmes) connection with the tragedy. The statement was given to a close friend of Holmes' in Philadelphia, who gave it to your representative.

Holmes says that on Saturday night preceding the death of Pietzel the latter came to his house on North Eleventh street, where he was staying with his wife. Pietzel told Holmes a heart-rending story of his pecuniary difficulties and of the sickness of his daughter in St. Louis. "I must have money," he said, or words to that effect, "to send to my wife in St. Louis." Holmes remonstrated with Pietzel as to his spendthrift habits. Pietzel threatened suicide after they had left the house and were on the street.

Holmes then avers that he jokingly remarked to Pietzel: "Well, your body is as good as any other, but I would not advise you to do anything rash."

Holmes accounts for making this remark, by saying that he and Pietzel had under consideration the defrauding of the Fidelity Mutual Insurance company.

Holmes says he went to the Callowhill street house to visit Pietzel on Sunday, and found a note addressed to him.

It directed him to go up to the second floor and open a closet in which he would find a large blue bottle containing another letter addressed to him. Holmes followed the directions. He found the note in the bottle as described. It was from Pietzel, and advised Holmes that his (Pietzel's) dead body could be found in the house. The letter pleaded that Holmes look after Pietzel's children, and suggested that there would be no difficulty in getting the insurance money from the Fidelity company now that the dead body of Pietzel could be produced in evidence.

Holmes said that he sat in the room with the body for over an hour. He finally made up his mind that since Pietzel had taken his life there would be no harm in destroying any evidence of suicide, so that he might be able to get the insurance on Pietzel's life without any difficulty.

Holmes confessed that he thereupon dragged the dead body to the second floor, laid the corpse on the floor, tried open the mouth of the dead man with a pencil and poured in a quantity of explosive chemicals. He then, he says, placed a lighted match to the man's partially concealed his identity, and placed his own hat, which was of felt under his coat. The criminal went directly to the Broad Street station, so he alleges, and inquired at what hour the first train left for Chicago. He and his wife, Holmes alleges, left for Chicago that night.

Holmes' attorney has given out another statement, purporting to come from the archconspirator and relating to the statements made by Charles Chappell of Chicago, to the effect that he had articulated four skeletons for Holmes.

STORM IN ST. LOUIS.

Streets Flooded, Property Damaged and One Man Seriously Injured.

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—This city has been visited by a terrific thunderstorm that raged for more than an hour. The rain fell in sheets, flooding the streets and sewers of the West End and doing considerable damage. A strong wind broke many trees, and two brick houses in course of erection were completely demolished.

A number of men were at work on them when the wind and rain came up. They barely escaped with their lives. One of them, George W. Bennett, an employee of the Missouri Roofing company, was thrown violently from his position on the roof of the house and fell to the ground, sustaining serious injury about the head and body. He was removed to the city dispensary.

Falling the houses fell over on to the residence of John W. McClain and did considerable damage.

Arthur Laboe, the 11-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Laboe, 426 Espenshield avenue, came by his death as a result of the wind and rain storm. He picked up a live wire that had been broken and thrown to the street by the wind. Death was instantaneous.

THE SPORTS NOT DOWNCAST.

They Believe the Fights Will Be Puffed Off at Dallas.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Governor Culberson's edict, adverse to pugilistic encounters in the state of Texas, does not seem to have had much effect on the sports who take a deep interest in pugilism in this vicinity. They all believe implicitly in Dan Stuart's ability to bring off the big fight at Dallas.

As "sideshows," the O'Donnell and Maher and Ryan-Smith fights have also engaged the interest of the sporting fraternity. In the uptown hotels the lovers of pugilism, who never lose an opportunity of making a wager on a sporting event, gathered, passed clear the possibility of Stuart's scheme coming out on top.

Word has been received from New Orleans that pools have been established in New Orleans, Louisville, Hot Springs, Memphis, Galveston, Jacksonville, Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Richmond, San Francisco, Denver, St. Paul, Pueblo, Kansas City, El Paso, Chattanooga, Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Columbus, Indianapolis, Boston and New York.

A STRAY BULLET KILLED HER.

A Woman Meets Death In Her Home In West Virginia.

MONTGOMERY, W. Va., July 30.—At Crescent, a mile above here, while Mrs. William White was clearing away the supper dishes in her kitchen, she suddenly fell to the floor, and by the time her son, who was in the next room, reached her, she was dead. In the side of her head was a large wound, which it was supposed at first had been made by her falling against the sharp corner of the stove.

An investigation made by Dr. Barney revealed a Winchester rifle bullet in her brain, it having passed clear through and lodged against the skull on the other side. It is supposed some one shooting near the river sent a stray bullet in the direction of Mrs. White's home. The person firing it was beyond earshot, as no one heard a sound.

A MURDER MYSTERY CLEARED.

Charles Ringold Says He Saw His Wife Murder Her Children.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 30.—Chas. Ringold, stepfather of the two little Findley children, who were murdered and thrown into the Ohio river here March 18, has confessed that he was an eye witness to his wife murdering the children, and says that he could not withhold the secret no longer.

The affair is causing a sensation here as it was one of the most brutal crimes which has ever happened in the county.

Stopped the Murder Show.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The principal feature of the Durant case was the defendant's application for a judicial order to prevent the production of a play called "The Crime of a Century," based upon the Emanuel church murder. The prisoner alleged that the performance would inflame popular feeling against him. The prosecution joined with the defendant in a request for a restraining order, which was granted.

A Strike Riot In Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, July 30.—A fight resulting from the strike of the cloakmakers of Ullman & Co. has occurred here. The firm hired non-union men to take the strikers' places. They were attacked by the strikers and several were roughly handled. Three strikers were arrested.

Sensational Scene In Toledo's Council Chamber.

SIX CITY DADS ARRESTED.

They Refused to Vote on the Confirmation of Judge Commager, as Ordered by the Mayor—Finally Compelled to Vote, But Threaten Injunction.

TOLEDO, July 30.—A sensational scene was enacted in the council chamber by the arrest of six Democratic members who refused to obey the mayor's official call for a joint session of the council and aldermen. The session was called to confirm the appointment of Judge Commager to the bipartisan board of elections. The confirmation had been rejected by the joint session of a week ago, the Democrats exerting the influence over the balance of the body in claiming that Commager had been a traitor to his party. His appointment was therefore not confirmed.

The mayor again issued a call for a joint session to take action again on the appointment and the Democrats, after answering to their names at roll-call, abruptly left the council chamber and refused to return. The city solicitor drew up a state warrant for their arrest, which was signed by the president of the aldermanic board, and given to the sergeant-at-arms to serve. The Democrats were locked in an adjoining room and refused to open the door and only on the threat of calling in the police did they consent to allow the sergeant to enter.

After he had read the warrant they refused to leave the room, and a call was sent to the Central station for a detail of police, but before they arrived the fighters weakened and returned to the chamber under arrest, where they voted against the confirmation. More trouble is expected from the affair, and they threaten to enjoin Commager from taking his seat on the board of elections.

PUDDLERS MUCH PERTURBED.

Cleveland Iron Masters Have Not Yet Accepted the Amalgamated Terms.

CLEVELAND, July 30.—The puddlers of Cleveland are much perturbed over the outlook for their trade. The Amalgamated association scale for this year placed their wages at $4 per ton on a sliding scale, but they have not yet heard whether their employers have agreed to it. They have written to President Garland of the Amalgamated association for information, but have not received an answer.

The rules of the association provide that if the scale is not signed within a specified time, the scale of the preceding year will be in force. The time is nearly up and the scale of 1894 is $4 per ton even. The puddlers, while anxious, declare that they will neither strike nor withdraw from the Amalgamated association.

Rockefeller Makes an Answer.

CLEVELAND, July 30.—The answer of John D. Rockefeller, who was garnished in the sum of $425,000 several weeks ago by the American Steel Barge company, has been filed in the common pleas court. The defendant claims that he did not at the time of the service, have any money belonging to Alfred or Leonidas Merritt, nor was he indebted to them in any sum whatever. It will be remembered that the Merritts recovered a judgment for almost $1,000,000 against Mr. Rockefeller in the Minnesota courts, and as soon as the judgment was rendered the barge company, who claimed that the brothers owed them $125,000, garnished the oil millionaire.

Puddlers' Revolt Causing Alarm.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 30.—The news of the accession of several lodges from the Amalgamated association has caused a great deal of comment here among iron manufacturers and employees. From the present condition of affairs, it looks very much as though the puddlers' dissatisfaction will be no trifling matter, and when the time comes for going to work at $4 a ton there may not be many in this valley who will do it.

Rod Millworkers Won't Strike.

CLEVELAND, July 30.—The striking rod millmen have given it out that a general strike of their craftsmen will probably not be ordered Aug. 1, as has been threatened. They say they have received every assurance that the millowners will meet them at least halfway. The Cleveland Rolling Mill company has granted their rod millmen an advance amounting to from 10 to 15 per cent.

A Murder In Columbus.

COLUMBUS, July 30.—As a result of a grudge of long standing James Leonard, who keeps a saloon and grocery at State and Sandusky streets on the west side, has shot and killed Will Welsh, Welsh was at Leonard's saloon when a little trouble arose and Leonard shot him twice and then struck him over the head with a revolver. The trouble was over Mrs. Leonard.

SMALL OHIO HAPPENINGS.

Ex-Mayor Plumer is dead at Wooster. J. G. Neely, a young man of Greenville, was drowned in Lake Brady, near Ravenna.

A telephone war is on at Grafton, W. Va., between the Bell company and the Standard.

Miss Morris, a white girl, was attacked by a negro at Loveland, but was finally rescued. The negro escaped.

Mrs. Francis Jarvis, an estimable lady, the wife of the president of the Piqua National bank, is dead, aged 77 years.

Otto Crawford, the defaulting treasurer of Putnam county, died rather suddenly in the penitentiary hospital of cerebral spinal meningitis.

Officers Fredrick and Moffatt arrested Randolph Squire at California and locked him up on the charge of cruelty to children.

In a fight on South Baxter street, Dayton, Michael Siler, a colored man, was severely cut up, but recovered. Samuel Coffman and John and Ben Kogler, all white, were arrested by the police as alleged participants.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The turners and handlers of the city want a ball game, and are organizing two clubs.

A number of young people from this city will drive to McGriffick's grove tomorrow evening.

Frank Anderson, of Walnut street, entertained a party of young men last evening. He was 23 years of age.

A merry party of young people spent a pleasant time at the residence of Colonel Taylor on Sixth street last evening.

The trustees of the First Presbyterian church will meet at the residence of J. M. Kelly and arrange for the repairing of the church this evening.

The dance given at Fredericktown last night was well attended by young people from this city and all spent the time very enjoyably with their country brethren.

It is thought that Mrs. Louis, whose husband disappeared a few weeks ago, and told a reporter he had left his family for good, has been located, and his wife went after him this morning.

Terry Carman, one of the men who escaped from jail last week and is believed to be at the bottom of the plot, is said to have been captured in the crap raid at Wellsville on Saturday night.

Camping parties are returning to the city, and before the week is over almost all will be at home. The Pittsburgh crowds that spent the summer along the river, and on the vicinity of Beaver creek, have returned home or are preparing to move.

The experiment of iron barges on the river is to be tried again, a St. Louis firm having had one constructed in Pittsburgh. The Brown company built an iron barge several years ago, and sent it to Cincinnati loaded with coal, but it never came back.

There was a lively scene at the power house this morning. A heavily laden wagon got between the rails at the new switch, and was kind enough to break down. Passengers were transferred while Superintendent Andrews and the driver engaged in a war of words.

A large and delighted audience listened to Rev. H. A. Cooper at the Second Presbyterian church East End last night. Reverend Cooper preached a good sermon in the same earnest vein for which he has always been noted. He leaves tonight for his home in Paolo, Kan.

C. C. Thompson says the individual who complained to the NEWS REVIEW about the road at the upper end of the pottery does not know a good road when he sees it. It is one of the best in the county, and what is more, the county did not pay for it. Mr. Thompson footed the bill.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh railway officials are endeavoring to induce the commissioners of Jefferson county to change the road near Hammondsville. A dangerous crossing is located there, and the company offered to pay $700, about half the cost of building another road, if that piece is abandoned.

A private letter from Salineville today gives the information that people there are not feeling as well as they might because another strike is expected. The trouble in the Pittsburgh district is expected to reach a climax very soon, and then there will be no work for the Salineville men.

Wheat has been threshed in this vicinity, and the report of the agricultural department says that the yield is from five to eight bushels to the acre. Corn is getting along very well under the influence of rain and warm weather, and a big yield of potatoes is assured. The farmer will have small cause for complaint except the low prices.

Although election is far in the future, candidates for municipal offices are already getting in line. A close friend of Mayor Gilbert is responsible for the statement that the popular official will be on the boards again next year, and another politician expresses the belief that he will have no opposition at the primaries, except from some candidates already announced. The big fight will be for the place now held by Chief Gill.

Officers Earle and Jennings had occasion to walk down Dew Drop alley last night, and the crowd in the Diamond imagined something was wrong. Some one started to run and in less than a minute hundreds were flocking to the spot. Unmindful of the attention they were attracting, the officers continued their walk, and the crowd, disappointed, went home. The incident served to show the ease with which a Liverpool crowd can be collected.

Parties living in Morton addition were treated to a complete exhibition of drunken husband yesterday afternoon, where a character who is known to the police made life miserable for his wife and family. He forgot that furniture and pictures cost money, and with the drunken rage of a man almost wild, demolished everything in sight. When the job was complete he could endure the exertion no more, and lay down in the ruins to sleep off his debauch.

COURSE MEN CHOSEN

What the Y. M. C. A. Will Have.

SIX ENTERTAINMENTS ARRANGED

Holiday Week to be Marked by a Concert by Local Talent—The Grand Opera House the Place—The Best Selections Ever Known Here.

The lecture committee of the Y. M. C. A. have completed their work, and the list of attractions is full. There will be six entertainments, five in the regular course and one made up of the best musical and elocutionary talent to be had in the city. As usual the price will be $1 for all, and for the exceptionally fine entertainments this is the best offer yet made by the association. The list is as follows:

Oct. 31, "Naval Battles of the Rebellion," Maj. Henry C. Dane; Nov. 21, "The Indian Question," H. H. Emmett; Dec. 6, "World Making," S. Phelps Leland; Dec. 31, concert by home talent; Feb. 3, Tyrolean Troubadors; Feb. 27, the Stanton-Harris combination.

Major Dane is among the best platform orators in the country, and will be one of the chief attractions, while all know the name of S. Phelps Leland, attached as it is to wit and eloquence. The concert will be prominent in the course, for East Liverpool never failed to patronize its own singers and speakers when they are engaged in a worthy cause. The Troubadors will sing in native costume, and the entertainment promises to be as unique as the music will be good. The Stanton-Harris combination never fails to attract, and the performance is a fitting end for the course.

All the entertainments will take place at the Grand, the experiment last year having been very much of a success. The committee will soon issue a handsome prospectus, and the tickets will be on sale within a month.

ANOTHER PAGE.

It is Written by "Presbyterian" on the Christian Endeavor.

EDITOR OF NEWS REVIEW:—The weather is pretty warm—too hot for heated controversy, and now I half regret saying my little say about the Christian Endeavor movement—regret for your readers and for the gentleman who replied in your issue of Saturday evening. As to the matters discussed I suppose they will be decided on their merits, and whatever weight in some things a great name and title may have, the general public will not consider who says, so much as what is said. If Brother Lee feels that he has got down somewhat by answering an anonymous (only to the public) writer, he might find foemen worthy of his steel in not only Doctor McKibben, of Cincinnati, but Doctor Kumber, of East Liberty, or Doctor Agnew, of Philadelphia, or the hundreds of the ablest and most prominent ministers of the Presbyterian church, who have not been caught with the "plan of union" business combination. With less sarcasm and more facts the brother would not have stated that the general assembly had endorsed the Christian Endeavor as a distinctive movement. It has declined to do this, and always talks about Young People's societies. Nor would the expense connected with the session of the general assembly been compared with the fuss and feathers self-constituted convention. As well put one of Coney's gatherings in comparison with the constitutional body governing the state or the nation. The disclaimer of any purpose to interfere with denominational loyalty has been made not only in the last convention but several times before. But the philosophy of human nature and facts cannot thus be put away. "By my soul she doth protest too much." The supreme power is in the little junta in Boston, just as the supreme power is in the pope for all Catholics, however must they in this country avouch their loyalty to the government of the United States. But I forbear and promise not again to trespass on your space. With high regard for Brother Lee's zeal, and with thanks for your editorial courtesy, I am yours. I subscribe the good old name.

PRESBYTERIAN.

Mrs. Ball Dead.

Mrs. Ball, a well known resident of Walnut street, died last night after an illness caused by a complication of troubles lasting over a month. Deceased was 48 years of age, and a consistent Christian being a regular attendant at the First Presbyterian church. She was the mother of five children who with her husband are left to mourn her death. Funeral services will be conducted at the home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and interment will be in Spring Grove cemetery at a later hour.

Pretty Twins.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Haney, Second street, last night, a son and daughter.

AT SPRING GROVE.

Stockholders Meet—Strangers in Camp. A Good Sermon.

The stockholders met at Spring Grove last night, and decided to conduct another lawn fete before the season is over. The date will be decided at another meeting.

Miss Jean Stevenson is visiting in Lisbon.

Mrs. Bishop, of Cleveland, is a guest at the cottage of George Ashbaugh.

Reverend Robbins delivered a masterly sermon in the tent last night, the attendance being large. The gentleman will remain in camp until next Saturday.

The small boys are playing ball with the Buckeye team in town today.

This is Epworth League day, and the program as prepared is being carried out to the letter. There was a large attendance at the meetings this morning, and the services were decidedly interesting.

There was no little amusement among the ball players when a local paper announced contention between them and the trustees. That question was settled last year, and the boys have permission to play if they so desire when services are not in progress, but as a matter of duty they have decided to do nothing until after the meeting is over. The matter was disposed of by a petition to the trustees last year, and there was not a word about it this year.

Why the Grocers Kick.

As a banana wagon was driven along the streets this afternoon and the vendor offered the fruit for 10 cents a dozen a grocer remarked: "That is an outrage. Those very people that sell the bananas so cheaply are the ones from whom we buy. We pay $1 to $1.50 a bunch and are compelled to sell at 25 cents a dozen to make anything. There is only one other big dealer in town and his prices are higher. He don't peddle them around however, and I am beginning to think that is an inducement to buy from him. We have no protection whatever."

Tore Off a Wheel.

When Charles Deidrick was allowing his horse to drink at a trough on the Calcutta road near Riverview cemetery last night William Hackworth drove by in a buggy. The night was dark, and Hackworth could not see the vehicle, and as he drove by his buggy took a wheel off the other. As there was no way to remedy the matter Deidrick walked home.

Sprint Race.

Harry Kerr imagines himself a sprinter, but when a man over 50 years of age, and weighing some 236 pounds, defeated him easily in a 100 yard sprint this afternoon, the boys about Howard Kerr's bicycle headquarters gave the would-be speeder the guffaw in great style. Harry admits that "there's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip."

More Water in the River.

The recent rains have caused the river to rise, and there is prospect for more water than has been seen in months. The river is rising today, but it is not expected to help the coal men to any great extent. There has been plenty of rain during the season in the mountains, but it has been so scattered that it could not help river-men.

Only a Dead Horse.

A horse belonging to an East End man named Blazier died on the river bank this morning. Officer King notified the owner who will be made to bury it. The horse was captured the other day by Officer Meador because it wandered in the streets, and nipped the tops from corn patches.

Biggest in the Land.

Although it is not generally known the members of Favorite tent, Rechabites, are proud because they have the largest lodge of the order in the country. There are over 200 active members, a record which cannot be duplicated by any other organization of Rechabites.

The Same Proportion.

The household goods of G. Kroutz were today shipped here from some point east of Pittsburgh.

Harry Wallace, of the firm of Wallace & Chetwynd, moved his household effects to Wheeling today. The family will reside there for a time.

A Social Session.

At the meeting of Favorite tent, Rechabites, last night a great deal of business was transacted and the session closed with a social. The tent has decided to have an entertainment of this character the last meeting in every month.

Might Have Been Serious.

Miss Nellie Dawson, of Avondale street, is recovering from a dangerous beating on her eyelid. At one time it was thought she would lose the sight of her eye.

A New Club.

A new social club is being organized and the rooms will be located in the Webber building on Market street. It will have a large membership.

PAINLESS CHILDBIRTH.

Mrs. FRED HUNT, of Glenville, N. Y., says: "I read about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription being so good for a woman with child, so I got two bottles last September, and December 13th I had a twelve pound baby girl. When I was confined I was not sick in any way. I did not suffer any pain, and when the child was born I walked into another room and went to bed. I keep your Extract of Smart-Weed on hand all the time. It was very cold weather and our room was very cold but I did not take any cold, and never had any after-pain or any other pain. It was all due to God and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Compound Extract of Smart-Weed. This is the eighth living child and the largest of them all. I suffered everything that flesh could suffer with the other babies. I always had a doctor and then he could not help me very much. But this time my mother and my husband were alone with me. My baby was only seven days old when I got up and dressed and left my room and stayed up all day."

A Spotter Was There.

Some of the bloods caught in the crap game at Wellsville Sunday are anxious to get even with the party that gave them away. They claim that one of the crowd was not arrested, and have marked him as the one who gave the snap away.

CAYLOR'S BALL GOSSIP

Clubs Never So Well Bunched In Twenty-five Years.

NINE TEAMS ARE STILL IN IT.

And Very Much In It at That—Boston's Great Slide Down the Toboggan and New York's Wonderful Spurt—A Pennant Race That Is of Intense Interest.

In the 25 seasons through which the National League of Baseball Clubs has passed there is no instance so far as I know where so many of its teams have in mid-season been bunched in the pennant race. The situation on the morning of July 18 was most peculiar one. Eight one-thousandth part out separated the first four clubs—that is to say that half a game of a margin marked the difference in standing between the Cincinnati in fourth place and the Pittsburghs in the lead. Then came the next division of three clubs with only half a game's difference between the Brooklyn in seventh place and the Boston in fifth place. The New Yorks in ninth place had crowded up to within an average of five games of the lead. It is conceded that not one of the nine clubs, from the Pittsburghs down to the New Yorks, was an improbable winner of the pennant, since very little more than half of the scheduled games have been played.

The uncertainties of the national game have never been more strikingly illustrated. That the New York team, all crippled and patched up, deprived of the services of four star players for a month, should hold its own in the great struggle is most astonishing; that it should begin its western trip after a most disastrous "drop" in the east and win seven of nine games in the first half of the western engagements, while the Boston and Baltimore were losing seventy per cent of their games to practically the same class of opponents, is one of those unaccountable outcomes of the national game which has made it the favorite pastime to pleasure seekers in outdoor sports.

The great slump of the Boston is a mystery of the game of baseball. During their long campaign at home in June they played like invincibles, and all over the land was heard the "told you so's" of wiseacres who began to predict that they would win in a walk. But there came a day when the notable team were called out upon the road. An unusually long trip began at Philadelphia on June 29, and the wonderful "toboggan spell" began. They lost three in a bunch. Thence they went to Brooklyn and dropped two more. At Pittsburgh the team rallied temporarily and held their own, but in Louisville came the surprise of the year. The despised tail enders beat the pride of the League twice, administering whitewash once, and in a third game played the Boston stars a tie game of 16 innings, with the score standing 2 to 2 when the shades of night descended. From Louisville the mighty bean eaters moved to Cincinnati and won a single game in four trials. Not since the memorable eastern trip of the Louisville team in 1877 has there been such a disappointing tour made by any team which left home in the lead.

When the Boston took their celebrated slide from the top the Baltimore replaced them at the head of the procession. That seemed to be a hoodoo to the champions also, for they, too, began a retrograde movement and met with some considerable surprises. The St. Louis Browns began the work of humiliating them by beating the Orioles twice in three games and making them play ten innings to win the third. But the worst knockdown of the season was suffered when the Cleveland spiders thumped the champions four successive times in two days.

The counter work of the New Yorks, in which they whitewashed Anson's heavy hitting colts twice in one series, shut the Cleveland out also and beat the St. Louis team three times without using Rustie, was surprise No. 2. All these things happening during a fortnight in mid-season have taught baseball enthusiasts to make no predictions if they value their reputation as prophets.

One lesson stands out in raised letters and can be learned by the veriest novice. That lesson is that the principal winning agency in the game of today is good pitching. That is half the game. Give a team strong pitchers, and little batting is necessary to win, because the pitchers will hold down the scores of opponents. Only fair fielders are needed to back up men like Rustie, Clarke and Breitenstein. And in its pitching vantage the New York club today has an excellent chance to overcome much, if not all, of its lost opportunities of June. If not all, it is in a class by himself. Rustie is peerless. He is in a class by himself. Not one, not even his opponents, will deny that statement. Nearest to him stood Meekin, and it is a pleasure to note that his disability was not permanent. He has occupied the rubber during an entire game, which is proof that his mighty arm is still left to the profession.

Meekin's trouble was in the nerves and muscles of the forearm. I know of no case where an injury in that part of the arm caused permanent disability. But whenever the soreness comes among the muscles of the shoulder the chance of recovery is very small.

Meekin's injury may have been a blessing in disguise. It certainly gave Dad Clarke a chance to take a place where he belonged, among the best pitchers of the land. He is no novice or young blood. Clarke pitched his first professional game nine years ago with the Norwich club of the Central league of New York, when he was 21 years old. In 1888 Anson gave him a trial and let him go. It was one of the "Old Man's" few mistakes. If Anson had been right, it would be almost worth the championship to him. The New York club didn't discover their diamond in the rough until Meekin's injury, and the failure of Knauss and Boswell forced them to put Clarke into the game. Jesse Burkett explained it to me, is a "great variety of deliveries which he keeps mixing up until he makes the batsman guess at every ball he pitches." He has a superb nerve, plenty of courage and never knows when he is whipped. One of his habits is to make ironical remarks about and to his batsmen. In one of the New York-Chicago games at the Polo grounds the score was 5 to 4 in the last half of the ninth inning, with two out, a Chicago runner on third, one on second and Dahlen at the bat. As Dahlen came to the plate Clarke looked him over critically, and then said: "Say, young fellow, you have the reputation of being a great batsman. Now I don't think you can bat a little bit. If I'm wrong, here's your chance to prove it. A base hit will win your game. But you'll not make one off me if you try till sundown. You're dead easy. If I had nobody but stiff like you to pitch to, I'd never lose a game. Didn't I tell you?" The last remark was caused by a little infield grounder after two wild and crazy strikes from the enraged Chicago star.

FANTASY MAY BE QUEEN.

She is Generally Regarded as Alix's Most Dangerous Rival.

Alix, 2:03 3/4, is still queen of all trotters, but not a few horsemen believe that Fantasy, the handsome bay mare by Chimes, will make a strong bid the coming season for the crown. In a recent race in Minneapolis Fantasy easily defeated Dictum, 2:05 3/4, the stallion king, in 2:09 and seems to be in rare form this early in the season. Having scored a factor mark of 100, she is a favorite, and it is confidently expected that Fantasy would also hold the championship among 4-year-old trotters.

Lillian Russell's Nepotism.

While most comic opera prima donnas are satisfied with one mother to trot out for propriety's sake, Miss Lillian Russell has a whole regiment of relatives hovering around her. She has just engaged her nephew, young Ross, as private secretary, and she is trying hard to get Manager Schoeffel to place Owen Westford, a brother-in-law, in Joseph Herbert's part in "The Zizgane," and Susie Russell, her sister, in Flora Finlayson's role. Then she has a couple of nieces, whom she insists upon introducing in the last act, but it appears that her managers are very strongly opposed to this little family arrangement.
